Dracones Mansueti Pueris Doctis.

Teaching youth tame the dragon.

business proposal

You want career employees with best possible potential to develop and take increasingly larger responsibility in your company?

We want to place our carefully selected scholars in companies that let them grow to their potential.

Get involved in our foundation, share your resources and your knowledge and you will get unique opportunities to evaluate scholars before their graduation and find those fitting your own "personal chemistry".

what we do

We search for special plants in the junkyard, those plants that even the environment is hostile, still manage to grow higher than the other plants in that environment.

why we do it

We find that we have strong objection against any waste of natural resources, including human resources.

If you only think about yourself, nobody else will. If you care about other people's needs, some of them will care about you.
